Governor Davidson Signs The Measure To Go Into Effect On August Fifteenth.

VERY MUCH PRESSURE EXERTED

Senator Stephenson Wanted Davidson To Veto The Measure—Railroads Claim It Abolishes Railroad Commissions Work.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Madison, Wis., July 16.—After August 15th Wisconsin will have a two-cent fare on all railroads with an earning capacity of $2,500 a mile.
This measure, passed by both the Senate and Assembly last week and engrossed and sent to the Governor yesterday, was signed by him this morning at 10:44.
This action does not come as a surprise to those conversant with the situation as they expected him to sign it as soon as presented despite the objections raised by the railroads and prominent politicians throughout the state.
While the measure was still waiting to be engrossed it is said United States Senator-elect Isaac Stephenson telephoned Davidson that he ought not to sign the measure, but leave the matter to the Railway Commission, which had adjusted the schedule at two and a half cents.

THESE CITIES AGAINST IT.
Municipal Ownership Turned Down In Various Places.

The voters of Colorado City have refused to sanction a bond issue for a municipal lighting plant.

The proposition to bond Willsville, Ill., for an electric light plant was defeated at a recent election.

The city council of South Sharon, Pa., has decided not to issue bonds for an electric light plant.

Lake Forest, Ill., voted down the proposition to buy the works of the Lake Forest Water company. The vote stood 292 to 68.

The Pittsburg (Kan.) Headlight states that at a recent election the proposition to bond the city for the purchase of the waterworks was defeated by 836 to 303.

The Waterloo (Ia.) Reporter states that Strawberry Point, in that state, after employing experts to investigate the matter has decided against a municipal light plant and in favor of a franchise.

The final abandonment of municipal ownership by Muncie, Ind., is an assured fact. The machinery of the electric light plant, which broke down a year ago after being in operation fourteen years, has been sold at a fraction of its cost. The city had invested $24-000 in the plant.

Apparently the voters of Bryan, O., do not regard municipal ownership as so much of a success that they want more of it, for they have defeated an ordinance providing for a bond issue of $40,000 for the improvement of the lighting and water plants. This illustrates one of the evil results of the system, for the money was needed to equip the plants with new and more economical machinery.

Van W. Welsh, village clerk of Ber-erly, O., writes as follows in response to a request for the reasons for the sale by that village of its electric light plant: "Will say the greatest reason for selling the plant was that the village could get no satisfactory service from plant in the manner it was being handled. The plant has been sold to local parties with the hope of getting better service in the future."

Rutherford, N. J., has decided not to go into the lighting business. This decision was reached at a public meeting called by the mayor to act upon the report of a committee of citizens which had been for a year making a thorough investigation of the subject. The report was unfavorable to the establishment of either a gas or an electric light plant and stated that a study of the subject showed that "there have been more failures than successes." There was no hostility to municipal ownership as a theory, but a grave doubt as to its practicability.

LAST SET OF MISSING
HARNESS WAS RETURNED

Barn of John Kennedy Was Entered by an Unknown Party, Carrying Back the Plunder, Last Night.

John Kennedy sent word to police headquarters at eleven o'clock last evening that a thief was in his barn.
But when City Marshal Appleby and Officer John Brown reached the scene
it was discovered that the unknown individual had quietly left one of the two sets of harness stolen from the premises Thursday evening. The other one was recovered from Charles Carpenter's barn Sunday morning.
From the foregoing it appears that the thief either had an accomplice or a friend who is willing to help him out. John Smith, who is charged with the crime, will have his hearing on Saturday.

into fashion after the trial of a New

GRANT REAPPOINTED
REPORTER OF COURT

New Statute Increasing Salary $2,000 to $2,400 Made Renaming Necessary.

George Grimm, judge of the twelfth Wisconsin circuit, filed notice in Madison yesterday of the reappointment of Francis C. Grant of this city to the position of circuit court reporter in the twelfth circuit. Other circuit magistrates throughout the state renamed their reporters in a similar manner. These reappointments were made necessary under a new law, chapter 485, which increases the salaries of circuit court reporters from $2,000 to $2,400.

MORE IMPROVEMENTS
ON STREET RAILWAY

Rail Connections Being Renewed—
New Curve on Academy Street—
Heavy Rails on East Milwaukee.

Work on more improvements to the Janesville street railway line has been started. The company's electri-cians are now renewing the connections between rails throughout the city to assure an unbroken circuit.
As soon as this labor is completed the rails on North Academy street between West Blue and Washington street will be relaid. A new curve has been plotted and while the street is being macadamized the change will be made. When East Milwaukee street, between Division and East heavy rails will be laid to replace the present light rails. Whenever brick pavement is ordered in the street car company will make a similar improvement.

FINE OR JAIL FOR
YOUTHFUL SMOKERS

Same Punishment For Those Permitting Boys to Use Tobacco—Appeal to Enforce New Law.

No youth under sixteen years of age will hereafter be allowed to smoke in any public place unless accompanied by parent or guardian and all persons permitting youths to smoke on their premises will be punished by fine or imprisonment. The Wisconsin legislature recently enacted an anti-smoking law and Marshal William Appleby announced today that the statute will be enforced rigidly not only in letter but in spirit. The law reads as follows:

"Every person under the age of sixteen years who shall smoke or use cigarettes, cigars or tobacco on any public road, street, alley or park or other lands used for public purposes or in any public place of business or amusement, except when in the company of a parent or guardian, shall be punished by a fine of not more than ten dollars or by imprisonment for not exceeding thirty days."

"Any person who shall permit any person under the age of sixteen years who shall not be in the company of parent or guardian, to use cigarettes, cigars or tobacco in any form, in or upon the premises occupied by him, shall be punished for the first offense by a fine of not more than twenty-five dollars or by imprisonment for not exceeding thirty days."

JANESVILLE MUTUALS
HAVE GOOD SCHEDULE
OF GAMES ARRANGED

The Janesville Mutuals, who have been very successful this season and took another victory Sunday by defeating the Second warders to the tune of 9 and 4, have a good schedule of games arranged. In this city next Sunday they will play the Beloit Giants. Butters twirled and DeMeire caught Sunday but next week Graves and Howard, the regular battery, will be in service again. Manager Fleming has closed contracts with Fort Atkinson and Bass Creek to play here and for games with Footville and Whitewater at those places. Next Sunday the Bass Creek and Atton
Tigers cross bats at the fair grounds.

UGLY WOMEN A DISGRACE TO THEMSELVES.

We make this statement because in this wonderful 20th century care and attention to the toilet places comparative beauty within reach of every intelligent woman.

What makes women appear ugly—not the features ugly—no, for a woman with very ordinary features can still be beautiful if her skin is good and her hair luxuriant and well groomed.

How can you have beautiful skin and hair? The valuable little book, fully illustrated, "How to be Beautiful," answers the question and this book will be given you free if you will call at the Toilet Goods Department of E. B. Heimsstreet.

This book is published by E. Burnham, the leading manufacturer of hair and toilet goods in the United States, whose famous establishment in Chicago is one of the places of note in that city.

SCHOOLS NEED BUT LITTLE REPAIRING

City Will Not Be Forced to Spend
Much Money This Summer—
School Board Meeting.

At the regular July meeting of the board of education, held in the high school building last evening, the usual summer repairs on the various school buildings of the city were discussed and ordered. It developed that all buildings are in excellent condition and that less repairing than usual will be needed this summer.
Of course all structures will be thoroughly renovated, all basements and cellars whitewashed and other cleaning done, but otherwise not much is necessary. The walls of the Garfield building, corner of South Jackson and Union streets, will be caulked.
This is the newest building in the city and hitherto the walls have been natural white.

ED. CARTER BURIED
UNDER LOAD OF HAY

Town of Milton Farmer, Caught Under Smothering Mass When Wagon Wheel Gave Way.

On West Milwaukee street, near the bridge, a load of hay overturned this noon and buried the driver, Ed Carter, a farmer living in the town of Milton. His son Ralph, a young man of about twenty years, was on the load but by jumping escaped being caught. He and passers-by dragged Mr. Carter from his precarious position beneath the smothering mass.
No injuries, further than a few bruises, were sustained. The accident was the result of a wheel on the wagon giving way.

Couldn't Agree.—In the case of the State against Isbell, charged with violating the statute against keeping shop open on Sunday, the jury failed to agree this morning.

Needs Attention.—A dilapidated bridge in the Third ward needs attention before injury results to person or property and heavy damages are incurred. Will the authorities see to it?

Soiree and Reception.—The ladies of the Congregational society are making extensive preparations for a soiree and reception at Park's Academy of Design on Thursday and Friday evenings of the present week. Pictures, music and the poetry of adjectives are to constitute the attractions.

Worth Knowing.—During one of the recent rains the water ran into a chimney at our residence so freely as to fill it full to a stove pipe hole when the soot water ran down the hard finish wall to the floor, leaving an unsightly stain. Washing failed to remove it, and other applications failed to do any good, until as an experiment we tried chloride of lime which had gathered sufficient dampness to be about the consistency of paste. A little vigorous rubbing with that removed the stain entirely. Having concluded not to get a patent on this discovery, we give it to the world "free, gratis, for nothing."

The Excelsior Juniors were again beaten yesterday afternoon in the second game between that club and the Bower City club. The score resulted 55 to 52 in favor of the Bower City club.

BECOMING A MOTHER

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and

PERFECT TEXAS

At midnight between Friday and Saturday last the state of Texas crossed the thin line that separates barbarism from civilization and entered into a state of perfect culture and good manners. The transition was made just as a large bunch of statues passed by the perfectionist legislature went into effect. Whoever doubts that Texas has suddenly and successfully shaken off the shackles of savagery and wiped out of memory the very name of Colonel Bowie is invited to scan some of the new laws. If anybody can suspect the perfect state of Texas after inspecting her lovely bunch of legislative mandates we should be curious to meet the man," says the New York Tribune.

There is, for instance, the law permitting medical colleges to deal in human bodies. This is a great stride in advance. Under the old regime a scientist who wished to get within microscopic range of the bacilli of the vermiform appendix was obliged to hang around a faro bank until a gang of bad men from a neighboring ranch began to lose money and make a few voluntary contributions to the morgue. But now the medical man is entitled to bid for houses of flesh on the open market. By this law Texas has added to her natural resources the cash value of the cadavers of her citizens. Then there is the law abolishing negro school trustees; this adds a brighter tinge to the already glowing pink of perfection in which the Lone Star now rejoices. The race question is entitled forever by leaving negro education exclusively in the hands of the whites. Not less easily has the rapid transit problem been solved; another law makes it a misdemeanor to drink intoxicating liquor on trains, thus removing at a single stroke the one great obstacle to swift transportation. In olden days, before last Friday midnight, Texas travelers consumed so much rejuvenating fluid that express trains had to stop at every way station to replenish the ever falling supply. But now it is possible to travel an hour without stopping. The blessings of peace have likewise been brought to Texas by way of the legislature; pistol toting has been restricted by a cleverly contrived statute which taxes every man selling pistols 50 per cent of the gross earnings of all his business. The justice of this method of producing calmness and control of the trigger finger is apparent; at least, as apparent as the justice of the law requiring insurance companies to invest three-quarters of their Texas earnings in Texas, or that of the law prohibiting absolutely every variety of free pass and frank. If Texas isn't perfect it will be because she is bounded by the United States on the north, east and west and Mexico on the south, internally, every germ of corruption has been slaughtered, leaving open only the possibility of contamination from without.

The explosion of the bags of powder on the battleship Georgia caused a loss almost as great as the battle off the harbor of Santiago during the Spanish-American war.

No one can complain that Janesville does not do things when it gets started. Watch the city grow like a mushroom after a summer shower.

Janesville is such a good town to live in, to work in, to grow wealthy in.

in that the general public ought to be apprised of the fact.

The legislature may adjourn sine die or it may not. A few members are left for the death struggle of the longest session on record.

Supposing the telegraphers do strike. The old methods of doing business by mail are still left open.

Roosevelt and his big stick are still persuasive enough to be counted as an element in the National peace.

Chicago papers having settled up their differences have again begun fighting the city administration.

Mr. Harriman will have to quit his crowing before long.

C. & N. W. REDUCES RATES TO ILLINOIS

Fare to Points in Illinois from Here Will Be Much Lower After Friday; To Chicago, $1.96.

Not anticipating Gov. Davidson's signing the Wisconsin two-cent fare bill, which he attached his signature to this morning, the Chicago & North-Western road sent out today a new schedule of fares for interstate tickets between points in Wisconsin and Illinois combining the rates of two and a half cents in Wisconsin and two cents in Illinois for all interstate tickets on its line to go into effect Friday, July 19. The rate charged at present for tickets between a Wisconsin point and a place in Illinois is three cents a mile. The new rate sheet to go into effect this week was received by the local North-Western ticket agent, Clayton Tanberg, this morning and unless further notice is given the fare from Janesville to points in Illinois will be much lower than they are now. It is probable that the reduction made in the interstate rates, to go into effect Friday, will remain as announced until the middle of August, when the Wisconsin rate of two cents a mile will go in effect on all railroads in the state which have an earning of $3500 a mile per annum. The roads may see fit then to further reduce the fare between points in the two states following their present action, so that the through fare will not exceed the two-cent rate in Wisconsin plus the same rate in Illinois. According to the schedule received by the North-Western this morning the fare from this city to Chicago will be $1.96 after Friday instead of the present rate, $2.73. The rate to Crystal Lake, Ill., will be reduced from $1.45 to $1.10, to Woodstock, Ill., from $1.19 to $.94, and to Harvard, $3.55 to $3.11. The North-Western in taking this action has made the rate between points on its own line comply with the regulated rates in the states traversed. Rates to distant points in Illinois from here not on the North-Western have not been received as yet at the local office.

FELL ON RADIATOR; EAR CUT THROUGH

William Alderman Hurt While Cranking Automobile at Randall & Athon Repair Shop.

In attempting to crank an automobile at the repair shop of Randall & Athon on North River street this morning, William Alderman, a workman, was thrown violently against a radiator by the slipping of the crank. His right ear struck a sharp edge, cutting a gash entirely through the flesh and cartilage of the external part of the organ. He was immediately taken to a surgeon and several stitches were necessary to hold the several portions together. Bruises to scalp were also sustained and Mr. Alderman will be unable to work for awhile.

BEES HAD HIVED IN 'PHONE CABLE BOX

Rock County Telephone Lineman Had Hot Job in Cleaning Out Honey—Spectators Stung.

Sometime during the past spring a woodpecker bored through a cable box on the top of a Rock County telephone pole at the corner of Ravine and Madison streets in the first ward. A stray swarm of bees found the opening and selected the box for a hive. For two months past they have been busy depositing honey in this place and yesterday afternoon employees of the phone company set about to clean the box in order that repairs could be made. Should there be any trouble on the line connected with this cable, Lineman Roy Wells, garbed in mosquito netting and gloves, was the principal actor in this show that attracted an immense gallery from the surrounding neighborhood. When he opened the box the bees came out in a black cloud. Unflinchingly he began shoveling out honey. During the progress of his operations a part of the swarm settled upon his back. He turned around and scraped off the insects by rubbing against the door. Altogether, he removed a full pail of honey and this was presented to the children of the neighborhood. It was ravenously eaten and no doubt there are many youngsters in the first ward who are today not only nursing stings but honey-headaches. Wells was stung but once.

JUVENILES IN COURT AGAIN

THREE RELEASED ON PAYMENT OF SMALL FINES AND COSTS.

BROKE LITTLE GIRL'S ARM

That Was Offense Alleged Against Little Eleven-year-old Willie Brandenburg—"Cap" Collier Punished.

Juveniles had their inning in municipal court again this morning, with four before the judicial bench and twenty-five or more in the gallery. Eleven-year-old Willie Brandenburg, son of W. C. Brandenburg, who resides at 117 N. Franklin street, was charged with breaking a little girl's arm. The little girl is a daughter of Mrs. Dock, who resides on Franklin street. Willie, who is about as big as a pint of cider, told Judge Fifield that the little girl took his hat off and that he threw her down. He denied that he seized her by the wrists and twisted her arm. Parents on both sides alleged that abusive and offensive language was used by the children. The case was held open until next Monday.

James Fox and Eugene Riley. After reminding Eugene Fox and James Riley, two of the boys implicated in the theft of 50 pounds of lead-pipe from the Schlitz Brewing Co.'s abandoned saloon, west of the railroad tracks, that they had laid themselves liable for a term in the reform school at Waukesha, Judge Fifield said that he was disposed to be lenient after having received assurances from their parents that there would be no trouble of a similar nature in the future. In his testimony against Eddie Barry and John Hessian yesterday, City Marshal Appleby detailed a conversation with the first-named in which admission was made of the theft of a Bristol steel fishing-rod and some bamboo poles from the Barriage boat-house near the ice-house, in which crime Fox and Riley were implicated. Barry had said that he hid the steel rod at home but that his uncle, Richard Murphy, subsequently got drunk and "peddled it" at Podewell's saloon. When the court asked the boys about this matter today, young Fox admitted that he got a bamboo pole worth about 35 cents. He said that a boy named Harold Schicker was also in the party and that the boat-house was open. The two boys said that when they offered the lead-pipe for sale to Charles E. Snyder, the plumber, and he asked them where they got it, they told him that they had found it. Against Fox and Riley Judge Fifield levied fines of $5 each, together with the costs of $3.20 equally divided between them with alternatives of ten day jail sentences. The fines and costs of $5.60 each were paid by the boys' parents.

Lawrence Griffin Fined. The court also gave Lawrence Griffin a severe lecture, reminding the lad that his frequent previous appearances in court would "entitle" him now to a term in the reform school. He was not for the fact that the other boys had testified that he was connected with the lead stealing episode only in a small way. The boy seemed deeply penitent and promised to do better. He was fined $25 together with costs amounting to $2.85, which were paid by his mother but which he agreed to reimburse her for as soon as he could collect money already earned by him as a call-boy at one of the docks.

"Cap" Collier Ignorant of Law

Elliott ("Cap") Collier, charged with violating the first and second sections of ordinance 315 regulating the conduct of the scavenger's business and stipulating water tight metallic tanks, pleaded a conscience void of offense when confronted with the health department's evidence against him. For twelve or fourteen years, he said, he had been doing business in the same old way—using barrels—and no one had ever told him about the ordinance. The court levied a small fine of $1 and costs amounting to $2.60, and gave "Cap" time in which to make the cash return. "Can I go on doing business?" he inquired anxiously as he was leaving the courtroom. "You've got to comply with that ordinance and you'd better read it," was the curt response from the Bench.

MAYOR HEDDLES SAYS LEAF CROP WILL BE A WINNER

Rapidity With Which Plants Started Growing After Being Transplanted Has Completely Compensated For Lateness of Season.

Ask Mayor Stewart B. Heddles, whose tract of 35 acres under cultivation this season, entitled him. It is claimed to rank as the largest individual tobacco planter in southern Wisconsin, what he thinks about this weather, and you will be rewarded with the smile beatific, the smile of supreme, ineffable contentment. Some have complained of the frequent showers and the warm, sultry spells sandwiched in between. Not so the tobacco growers.

It is true that owing to the early cold spell the transplanting was two weeks late this season. It began about a week before July 4th and has just been concluded. Many, fearing that summer was going to be omitted this season, devoted land intended for the leaf to other crops. Some ploughed up their corn and set out tobacco at the last moment. Mr. Heddles said this morning that according to his estimate the acreage in the entire Wisconsin belt would show a decrease of ten per cent over that of last year. He, himself, had 64 acres last season. Still, if his thirty-five net him 1,400 pounds to the acre, or a total of 49,000 pounds, this fall he will not complain. For, having unforeseen contingencies, he thinks this year's crop is going to be one of the finest ever grown.

Though the plants were set out two weeks late, on the average, Mayor Heddles says that in no year during the history of tobacco growing in Wisconsin so rapidly after being taken from the beds. Instead of wilting and lying down for a fortnight to recuperate, after their transfer to the fields, according to their wont, they have started right in to make up for lost time, so that one might be disposed to endow them with an intelligence almost human, were it not for the so obvious helping hand of the elements and the fact that after all they are only weeds. Wherefore and hence the remarkable phenomenon of a crop two weeks late and still far advanced at the same time last year, every indication of continued good weather and a fairly early harvest, the growers have reason to be happy.

Do You Want Winter Eggs?

If you do you must help your fowls through the moults.

If you don't know how we will tell you.

It takes hens about one hundred days to go through the moult. If not forced they do not commence much before the 15th of August to 1st of Sept., hence they do not get through before cold weather—that means no fall or winter eggs. You can start the moult now and force them through in sixty days—that means winter eggs.

Our knowledge of moulting fowls is free to our patrons.

Tools Cheap at Junk Shops.

In every large city will be found places where second-hand or junk tools are sold. Tools of all descriptions, adapted to every branch of mechanics, can be bought at prices ranging from one cent up.

A good-sized paint brush, brings two cents, a carpenter's hammer five cents, a pick or shovel 25 cents, a rip saw ten cents, and so on. According to Popular Mechanics, the average price is less than one-tenth what the new article would cost at a hardware store, and the tool is often just as useful as a new one.

Some of the stuff in the motley collection comes from unredeemed pawns, some from junk dealers and a good deal from parties of whom no questions are asked.

Frequently quite valuable tools and instruments can be had for a mere song, as most customers want the tools of ordinary use requiring less skill to handle.

AMERICAN RULES SAVAGES.

Adventurer Grows Rich as King of Philippine Barbarians.

San Francisco.—How would you like to live among a strange, wild people whose chief article of diet was dog, and whose daily pastime was to decapitate humans?

Frank C. Cook, the first white man to penetrate into the jungles of Mindanao, did this. He became a vegetarian, exercised diplomacy and finally became head of a wild tribe and attained wealth and influence.

Cook has just arrived in San Francisco from Manila, a passenger on the United States army transport Logan. He comes back to his native land after a sojourn of seven years in the islands among the wild tribes of Mindanao. He brings with him stories of adventure and of experience among savages who looked upon a white man for the first time when they saw him. He also brings details of the killing of Edward Bolton, the governor of the district of Davao, who was slain several months ago by a native chieftain.

When the adventurer seven years ago, alone and unattended, one day pushed aside the jungle growth to gaze into the painted faces of a horde of savages, he was startled. But the savages were more frightened than he. They fled at sight of him. It took some time, but finally Cook became friendly with the timid tribesmen. Eventually he became their leader. He led them in their tribal fights. He adjusted their differences.

"It was a small tribe, the Calaganes, that I found myself among," said Cook. "They numbered 200 and were constantly at war with other tribes. They lived on dog meat, alligators and snakes. I only partook of their vegetable concoctions."

The Calaganes have strange customs. The men are not allowed to cut their hair until they are married. The headgear worn by the tribesmen indicates the number of men he has killed. When I first went to live with the tribe they brought the heads of their victims to their village and displayed them on poles about their huts. There is no longer any head hunting among them. They are agriculturists."

Seek to Save Sponge Beds. A law has been passed in Florida prohibiting diving for sponges. It is said that the divers have nearly ruined the sponge beds.

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription."

The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent antiseptic or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrh, dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous colitis, diarrhea, ulcers or other pelvic organs). Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections it is often

THE LION AND THE MOUSE.

By CHARLES KLEIN.

A Story of American Life Novelized From the Play by ARTHUR HORNBELOW.

COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY C. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY.

Meantime a fresh and more serious calamity had overwhelmed Judge Rossmore. Everything seemed to combine to break the spirit of this man who had dared defy the power of organized capital. Hardly had the news of the congressional inquiry been made public, than the financial world was startled by an extraordinary slump in Wall street. There was nothing in the news of the day to justify a decline, but prices fell and fell. The bears had it all their own way, the big interests hammered stocks all along the line, "coppers" especially being the object of attack. The market closed, feverish, and the next day the same tactics were pursued. From the opening, on selling orders coming from no one knew where, prices fell to nothing, a stampede followed, and before long it became a panic.

Pandemonium reigned on the floor of the Stock Exchange. White faced disheveled brokers shouted and struggled like men possessed to execute the orders of their clients. Big financial houses which stood to lose millions on a falling market rallied and by rush orders to buy attempted to stem the tide, but all to no purpose. One firm after another went by the board, unable to weather the tempest, until just before closing time the stock ticker announced the failure of the Great Northwestern Mining company. The drive in the market had been principally directed against its securities, and after vainly endeavoring to check the bear raid it had been compelled to declare itself bankrupt. It was heavily involved, assets nil, stock almost worthless. It was probable that the creditors would not see 10 cents on the dollar. Thousands were ruined, and Judge Rossmore among them. All the savings of a lifetime—nearly $55,000—were gone. He was practically penniless at a time when he needed money most. He still owned his house in Madison avenue, but that would have to go to settle with his creditors. By the time everything was paid there would only remain enough for a modest competence. As to his salary, of course he could not touch that so long as this accusation was hanging over his head, and if he were impeached it would stop altogether. The salary, therefore, was not to be counted on. They must manage as best they could and live more cheaply, taking a small house somewhere in the outskirts of the city, where he could prepare his case quietly without attracting attention.

Stott thought this was the best thing they could do, and he volunteered to relieve his friend by taking on his own hands all the arrangements of the sale of the house and furniture, which of the judge accepted only too gladly. Meantime Mrs. Rossmore went to Long Island to see what could be had, and she found at the little village of Massapequa just what they were looking for—a commodious, neatly furnished two-story cottage at a modest rental. Of course it was nothing like what they had been accustomed to, but it was clean and comfortable, and, as Mrs. Rossmore said, rather tactlessly, "beggars cannot be choosers." Perhaps it would not be for long. Instant possession was to be had, so a deposit was paid on the spot, and a few days later the Rossmores left their mansion on Madison avenue and took up their residence in Massapequa, where their advent created quite a flutter in local social circles.

Stott was given a room in the cottage so that he might be near at hand to work with the judge in the preparation of the defense, and he came out from the city every evening. It was now June. The senate would not take action until it convened in December, but there was a lot of work to be done and no time to be lost.

The evening following the day of their arrival they were sitting on the porch enjoying the cool evening air after dinner. The judge was smoking. He was not a slave to the weed, but he enjoyed a quiet pipe after meals, claiming that it quieted his nerves and enabled him to think more clearly. Besides, it was necessary to keep at bay the ubiquitous Long Island mosquito. Mrs. Rossmore had remained for a moment in the dining room to admonish Eudoxia, their new and only maid of all work, not to wreck too much of the crockery when she removed the dinner dishes. Suddenly Stott, who was perusing an evening paper, asked:

"By the way, where's your daughter? Does she know of this radical change in your affairs?"

Judge Rossmore started. By what mysterious agency had this man penetrated his own most intimate thoughts? He was himself thinking of Shirley that very moment, and by some inexplicable means—telepathy modern psychologists called it—the thought current had crossed to Stott, whose mind, being in full sympathy, was exactly attuned to receive it. Removing the pipe from his mouth, the judge replied:

"Shirley's in Paris. Poor girl, I hadn't the heart to tell her. She has no idea of what's happened. I didn't want to spoil her holiday."

He was silent for a moment; then after a few more puffs he added confidentially in a low tone, as if he did not care for his wife to hear:

"The truth is, Stott, I couldn't bear to have her return now. I couldn't look my own daughter in the face."

A sound as of a great sob which he had been unable to control cut short his speech. His eyes filled with tears, and he began to smoke furiously, as if ashamed of this display of emotion. Stott, blowing his nose with suspicious vigor, replied soothingly:

"You mustn't talk like that. Everything will come out all right, of course. But I think you are wrong not to have told your daughter. Her place is here at your side. She ought to be told even if only in justice to her. If you don't tell her, some one else will, or what's worse, she'll hear of it through the newspapers."

"Ah, I never thought of that!" exclaimed the judge, visibly perturbed at the suggestion about the newspapers.

"Don't you agree with me?" demanded Stott, appealing to Mrs. Rossmore, who emerged from the house at that instant. "Don't you think your daughter should be informed of what has happened?"

"Most assuredly I do," answered Mrs. Rossmore determinedly. "The judge wouldn't hear of it, but I took the law into my own hands. I've cabled for her."

"You cabled for Shirley?" cried the judge incredulously. He was so unaccustomed to seeing his ailing, vacillating wife do anything on her own initiative and responsibility that it seemed impossible. "You cabled for Shirley?" he repeated.

"Yes," replied Mrs. Rossmore triumphantly and secretly pleased that for once in her life she had asserted herself. "I cabled yesterday. I simply couldn't bear it alone any longer."

"What did you say?" inquired the judge apprehensively.

"I just told her to come home at once. Tomorrow we ought to get an answer."

Stott meantime had been figuring on the time of Shirley's probable arrival. If the cablegram had been received in Paris the previous evening, it would be too late to catch the French boat. The North German Lloyd steamer was the next to leave, and it touched at Cherbourg. She would undoubtedly come on that. In a week at most she would be here. Then it became a question as to who should go to meet her at the dock. The judge could not go, that was certain. It would be too much of an ordeal. Mrs. Rossmore did not know the lower part of the city well and had no experience in meeting ocean steamships. There was only one way out—would Stott go? Of course he would, and he would bring Shirley back with him to Massapequa. So during the next few days while Stott and the judge toiled preparing their case, which often necessitated brief trips to the city, Mrs. Rossmore, seconded with sulky indifference by Eudoxia, was kept busy getting a room ready for her daughter's arrival.

"By the way, where's your daughter?"

Eudoxia, who "gives" constantly from County Cork, was an Irish lady with a thick brogue and a husky temper. She was amiable enough so long as things went to her satisfaction, but when they did not suit her she was a terror. She was neither beautiful nor graceful; she was not young nor was she very clean. Her usual condition was disheveled, her face was all askew, and when she dressed up she looked like a valentine. Her greatest weakness was a propensity for smashing dishes, and when reprimanded she would threaten to take her traps and skidoo. This news of the arrival of a daughter failed to fill her with enthusiasm. Firstly, it meant more work; secondly, she had not bargained for it. When she took the place it was on the understanding that the family consisted only of an elderly gentleman and his wife, that there was practically no work good wages, plenty to eat, with the privilege of an evening out when she pleased. Instead of this millennium she soon found Stott stalled as a permanent guest, and now a daughter was to be foisted on her. No wonder hardworking girls were getting sick and tired of housework!

That evening Stott and the judge came home earlier than usual, and from their dejected appearance Mrs. Rossmore divined bad news. The judge was painfully silent throughout the meal, and Stott was unusually grave. Finally the latter took her aside and broke it to her gently. In spite of their efforts and the efforts of their friends the congressional inquiry had resulted in a budding against the judge, and a demand had already been made upon the senate for his impeachment. They could do nothing now but fight it in the senate with all the influence they could muster. It was going to be hard, but Stott was confident that right would prevail. After dinner as they were sitting in silence on the porch, each measuring the force of this blow which they had expected, yet had always hoped to ward off, the crunching sound of a bicycle was heard on the quiet country road. The rider stopped at their gate and came up the porch, holding out an envelope to the judge, who, guessing the contents, had started forward. He tore it open. It was a cablegram from Paris and read as follows:

Am sailing on the Kaiser Wilhelm to-day. SHIRLEY.

Dangerous.

Cleaning compounds are always dangerous. Never use benzine, gasoline or other like fluids in any room in which there is a light or fire. These oils are extremely volatile and their fumes catch fire at a great distance, the flames traveling back to the source. Explosion and scattered fire are the results.

Not Looking for Opposition.

They have a story in Washington of a "prominent citizen" who was conferring with President Roosevelt on the railroad question. "Why don't you talk it over with Root?" asked the visitor on leaving. "I can't discuss it with Root," was the answer. "He doesn't agree with me."

PERJURY CHARGE AGAINST ALLER

ANOTHER HAYWOOD WITNESS IS ACCUSED BY THE STATE.

RESULT OF REBUTTAL

Orchard Admits His Uncle Was Insane—Explosion at Bradley Residence Again Under Consideration.

Boise, Idaho, July 16.—Another warrant charging perjury against a witness who has testified for the defense in the case of the state of Idaho against William D. Haywood was issued Monday evening. C. W. Aller, formerly a telegraph operator and ticket agent at the Florence and Cripple Creek railroad at Cripple Creek, Col., is charged with the offense by the prosecuting attorney of Ada county.

Both Aller and McGee, who was arrested on the same charge, will be given an opportunity to furnish bonds and the preliminary hearing will be set to take place within the next few days.

Orchard's Uncle Was Insane. Eleven witnesses in rebuttal were examined Monday in the Haywood trial. Harry Orchard reappeared on the stand and was asked a few questions as to his acquaintance with some of the witnesses for the defense who have testified as to his movements. On being turned over for cross-examination he admitted that his uncle, Peter McKinley, committed suicide by hanging 13 or 14 years ago.

Counsel for the defense asked Orchard if this uncle was not insane before he killed himself and also tried to show by the witness that his maternal grandfather was insane, his monomania being imaginary crimes committed a long time ago in Ireland. Orchard denied all knowledge of the grandfather, but admitted that his uncle was demented.

Gives the Lie to Aller. The entire afternoon session was taken up with the examination of witnesses who contradicted the evidence given by C. W. Aller, who testified for the defense in support of the charge of a conspiracy against the Western Federation of Miners in which it is alleged the Mine Owners' association, the Citizens' alliance and the Pinkerton detective agency were concerned. Aller swore that he saw Orchard and D. C. Scott together at the depot of the Florence and Cripple Creek railway on a Sunday about three weeks prior to the explosion at the Independence depot on the sixth day of June, 1904. Scott Monday afternoon swore that he was not in Cripple Creek at the time, and a number of witnesses corroborated this. As a result of this rebuttal testimony information was sworn out after court adjourned charging Aller with perjury.

The explosion at the residence of Fred Bradley in San Francisco was again under consideration, the state undertaking to show that the effect of an explosion of illuminating gas could not have been that described in the depositions taken for the defense in San Francisco. The manager of the Boise Gas company, C. D. Lamson, who was at one time a resident of New York, qualified as an expert. He discredited the proposition that gas could be ignited by the glow at the end of a cigar. He was cross-examined at considerable length by Mr. Richardson.

The general effect of his evidence was that the explosion at the Bradley home could not have been caused by gas.

WIRES THE SHERIFF TO COME.

Frederick Magill Says Extradition Papers Are Unnecessary.

San Diego, Cal., July 16.—Acting on the belief that the attorneys for Frederick H. Magill and his wife would start proceedings Monday morning for the release of the prisoners, Chief of Police Moulton went before Justice of the Peace A. R. Thorp and made complaint, charging the pair with murder, based on the telegrams he has received from the sheriff of Dewitt county, Illinois. A warrant charging the pair with being fugitives from justice was placed in the hands of an officer for use if the defendants now in jail change their minds about going back to Clinton without trouble. Eugene Dacey, their attorney, has assured the officers that there would be no attempt to stop the transfer of the prisoners to Clinton, either with or without extradition papers.

Magill telegraphed Sheriff Campbell of Dewitt county, saying: "Will return voluntarily without papers. Come after us at once."

PHILADELPHIA IS GIVEN UP TO ELKS

GRAND LODGE SESSION AND RE-UNION OF ORDER OPENS.

SPEECHES OF WELCOME

Visitors Are Given Sea Food Dinner and Ride on River—Report of the Grand Secretary.

Philadelphia, July 16.—The forty-third grand lodge session of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks was formally opened here Monday night at the Grand opera house, when the visiting delegates and members of the organization were welcomed to the city on behalf of the Elks reunion committee by Daniel J. Shearn.

He said he would leave it to the visitors to say whether the promises made to the convention at Denver last year, that the Elks would be royally welcomed to the Quaker City, had been fulfilled. The delegates shouted in chorus, "Philadelphia's promises are good."

Addresses of Welcome.

Congressman J. Hampton Moore made the address of welcome on behalf of Philadelphia lodge No. 2 and Mayor Reburn greeted the delegates on behalf of the municipality. Wooda N. Carr welcomed the visitors and delegates to the grand lodge on behalf of the Elks lodges of Pennsylvania, and Gov. Edwin S. Stuart welcomed them to the state of Pennsylvania. In greeting the order the governor said it was fitting that the Elks, essentially an American organization, should be warmly received in the City of Brotherly Love and in a state to which their coming must awaken memories of a history dear to every patriotic heart. As a citizen of Philadelphia, he said, he was proud to welcome the Elks.

Grand Exalted Ruler Judge Henry A. Melvin responded to the welcome. The reception accorded the Elks, he said, by the city of Philadelphia, by the state of Pennsylvania and by the citizens within its borders, was such as none could anticipate.

Sea-Food Dinner on River.

The first large entertainment for the visitors was given Monday at a park on the Delaware where about 1,300 guests sat down to a sea-food dinner. They were also taken along the river in steamers to view League Island and the big industrial plants along the water front.

Grand Secretary Fred Robinson issued his statistical and financial report in which it was shown that 41,900 members were received into the order during the year. There were 38 new lodges instituted and the total membership is now 254,532. The largest lodge is Brooklyn, No. 22, which has 2,240 members, New York is second and New Orleans, Philadelphia and Chicago follow.

The feature of the day's events was the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" around the city hall at 11 o'clock at night by hundreds of members of the organization.

Rain Putting Out Forest Fires.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 16.—A steady rainfall which started Monday evening has deadened the forest fires in the upper peninsula, and they will be extinguished if the rain continues. The huckleberry crop of northern Michigan is saved by this rain.

Fire in Washington Ball Park.

Washington, July 16.—The club house and part of the grand stand at the American league baseball park, Seventh street and Florida avenue N. W., were destroyed by fire Monday night.

To Soften Old Leather.

Old leather may be softened by washing with warm milk and gently rubbing till dry. Also a mixture of boiled linseed oil and half the quantity of vinegar is a good renovator for shabby leather. Care must be taken not to rub hard enough to open the cracks or split them farther.

WATERSPOUT VISITS KANSAS

HALF MILLION DOLLARS DAMAGE NEAR LEAVENWORTH.

Many Cattle Drowned and Wheat Fields Ruined—Railway Traffic Demoralized in Nebraska.

Leavenworth, Kan., July 16.—A waterspout Sunday night caused damage within a radius of 15 miles of Leavenworth estimated at half a million dollars. Nearly six inches of rain fell.

At Iatan, Mo., several hundred head of cattle were drowned and hundreds of acres of wheat were washed into the Missouri river.

All railroads report tracks out and traffic demoralized. The Missouri river is rising rapidly and persons living in the bottoms are taking their stock and other belongings to the hills.

Omaha, Neb., July 16.—Heavy rains, in many counties aggregating eight inches, fell over southern Nebraska Sunday night and as a result railroad traffic is partially suspended. The Rock Island railroad is using Burlington trucks between Omaha and Lincoln because of washouts along the Platte river. The Missouri Pacific's Kansas City-Omaha line is washed out in a dozen places in southeast Nebraska and no trains are running. The Union Pacific is washed out on its Kansas-Nebraska line. The Burlington is washed out on many branches, but the main line trains are running.

Kansas City, Mo., July 16.—The Missouri river at Kansas City and in this vicinity has passed the flood stage and more or less damage in the wholesale districts in the west and east bottoms here may be expected very soon, according to Weather Observer Conner.

UTAH FUEL COMPANY SUE.

Government Seeks to Recover Land Obtained by Alleged Fraud.

Denver, Col., July 16.—Charged with having fraudulently acquired valuable coal lands in Gunnison county, Colo., by means of dummy entries, the Utah Fuel company, owned and controlled by the Denver and Rio Grande Railway company, and its officers, are made defendants to a suit filed in the federal court by United States District Attorney Earl M. Cranston, seeking the recovery of the land and a reasonable price for all coal mined in it. The complaint avers that the government greatly fears other lands may be taken by the fuel company's agents and asks for an injunction to prevent such seizures.

Ticket Agents Indicted.

Raleigh, N. C., July 16.—Additional indictments were found Monday by the Wake county grand jury against Southern railway ticket agents for selling tickets at a rate in excess of two and a quarter cents per mile in violation of the state law which makes such a sale a misdemeanor. There are two indictments against W. A. Pleasant, at Morrisville, Va., and J. A. Weathers, of Garner.

Baby and All Are Arrested.

Chippewa Falls, Wis., July 16.—O. Burk, 18 months old; Lena Burk, 12 years old; Edward Burk, a boy, and Peter Burk, father of the three children, were arrested Monday on a charge of illegally shipping fish to Chicago. Peter Burk, it is said, tried to evade the law by shipping fish under the names of the children.

General Strike Begins in Spain.

San Sebastian, Spain, July 16.—What promises to be a gigantic general strike throughout the northeast of Spain was begun Monday with the declaration of a strike at a meeting of several thousand miners at Bilbao. It is believed that the movement will spread rapidly to the mine districts of Santander and Asturias.

Arrested for Quadruple Murder.

Denver, Col., July 16.—William Drew, alias W. A. Johnson, charged with having shot and killed three white men and one negro at a grading camp near Benton, Ill., last September, was arrested in Denver Monday. The shooting, it is said, followed a dispute over a game of dice.

FOUR ARE FATALLY INJURED.

Erie Passenger Train Jumps Track, Turning Over in Ditch.

Toledo, O., July 16.—Four persons were fatally hurt and a number of other passengers badly injured at 5:30 o'clock Monday night when Erie passenger train No. 11, running between Marion, O., and Huntington, Ind., jumped the track near Foraker, O., the entire train turning over in the ditch.

The fatally injured are: Baggage master McDowell, Marion, O.; the fireman, Pearl Goff, Kenton, O.; and Frank Everhart, 18, Kenton, O. It is thought that a split rail caused the wreck.

YANKS VS. TEUTONS.

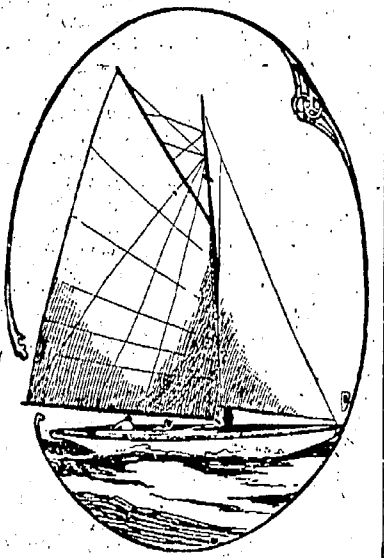

American and German Small Yachts to Meet Abroad.

AT THE KIEL REGATTA AUG. 15

After the German Races the Craft Will Be Taken to Spain For Further Competition—Sonderklasse Events, Originated by Emperor William.

While no British cup hunter will be seen in American waters before next year at least, this country's supremacy in racing with the wind will be put to another test on Aug. 15, when three little twenty foot cockleshells with sharp fins will meet three like German craft in a contest for Emperor William's cup in the brackish waters at Kiel.

The sonderklasse yachts forming the American trio to race in matches in

THE CHEEWINK VIII, WHICH WILL RACE AT KIEL.

Germany and Spain left Boston recently on board a freighter bound to Hamburg. The famous Kiel regatta is the German "blue ribbon" aquatic meet.

The boats are Spokane, owned by F. Lewis Clark of Spokane, Wash., vice commodore of the Eastern Yacht club, built in 1906 from designs by Clinton H. Crane of New York; Cheewink VIII, owned by F. G. Macomber, Jr., Corinthian Yacht club, built in 1907 from designs by Small Bros. of Boston; Marblehead, owned by William H. Joyce and Sumner H. Foster, Boston Yacht club, built in 1907 from designs by B. B. Crowninshield.

Spokane is the heavy weather representative, Cheewink is a fast all around performer, and Marblehead is best for light weather.

The crews, all amateurs, three men to a boat, followed their craft to Germany by a fast liner and will be at Kiel to take them in hand on their arrival. They will have time in which to try them out on the Kiel courses before the international match, which begins Aug. 15.

While some say the trio of tiny racers are too small for their deeds to be significant, designers, builders and all those who have made yachting what it is by study and practice foresee much in the outcome of their fight.

It was only winter before last that Emperor William's brooding over the practical impossibility of involving Germany in a contest for the America's cup, because no one could be found there to build a suitable boat, drove him to arrange some sort of a race with this country. By their deeds in the waters of Kiel the sonderklasse racers had become known from one end of Europe to the other for their speed and craftiness. True, they were small, but they could be sent abroad on a steamer's back, so the Kaiser proposed their entry into international yachting.

So it was arranged that Germany and America should come together on the water each year, but the Kaiser elected that the meeting should be a German one, a yachting feast prepared according to German rules.

In Germany twenty boats have been built from which to select three defenders, but little is known of them. One yachtsman who saw three of their underconstruction says that their builders have paid a high tribute to American skill by already patterning their craft after the Yankee boats that beat them in the first attempt.

The German boats have every advantage offered them to show their best, regattas and special races having been arranged for them on every hand at the wish of the emperor, and they will have a thorough trying out before the real struggle.

In these early races their skippers will also have the opportunity of becoming thoroughly acquainted with their charges. They will know the tides, currents and winds to be expected to the disadvantage of the Americans, but in international yacht racing that factor of being in one's own "back yard" always figures.

After the races at Kiel the American boats will be shipped to San Sebastian and will compete there for prizes offered by the king of Spain. If they win in one country it will be a feather in the cap of American skill in construction and seamanship. If they make a clean sweep, as many yachtsmen predict they will, every American sailor will have good reason to rejoice and foreigners to wonder still more at America's prowess on the sea.

Greece is said to be the poorest country of Europe. Her total wealth amounts to $2,000,000,000, or about half that of Switzerland.

ROPES CARRY ORE CARS.

Remarkable Line Connects Copper and Silver Mines.

A rope railway has been built to connect the copper and silver mines at Upulungos, in the heart of the Cordilleras, with the railroad of the Argentine railway at Chilceto. The nature of the mountainous country did not admit of an ordinary railway.

This new rope line 21 miles long, consists of a main carrying rope and a guide rope, and is in duplicate, having four ropes for the up and down traffic. There are nine stations; the ropes are carried from one station to the next at varying elevations, and are anchored at each station. The cars for the transport of the ore, etc., are slung on the main ropes and are suspended from them by rollers which run along the line. At each station they are transferred to the next rope, thus dividing the strain, and for great distances the ropes are also anchored between the stations.

The difference of level between Chilceto and Upulungos is over 11,000 feet, and the gradients are very steep, sometimes as much as 30 per cent. The cars descend by their own weight and their momentum serves, as in an ordinary funicular railway, to raise the ascending cars on the up line, but at several stations there are small steam engines to supplement the power. Each carload is half a ton of ore; the maximum delivery at Chilceto is 40 tons per hour, and 20 tons for the return journey to Upulungos. The speed of the cars is about 500 feet per minute.

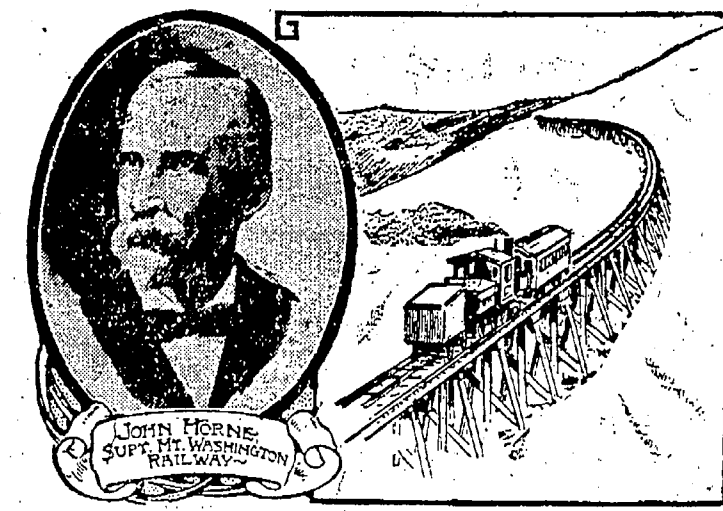

The ropes are supported and their tension maintained by iron trestle girders, varying from 10 feet to 100 feet in height, and the span of the rope between them is from 300 feet to 3,000 feet, according to the nature of the ground, which is deeply cleft in many places. In one section of the line a tunnel 1,000 feet long has been necessary.

Hire Regular Press Agents.

Diplomats in the passenger and freight departments get all the business they can while other diplomats perform other services for the corporations. Lately railroads have followed the example of the Erie in hiring a regular press agent. Often one of the vice-presidents is the man whose duty it is to make as good an impression with the public as he possibly can for his road. There everywhere is in the railroad world evidence of a disposition to deal more openly with the public. This, of course, necessitates the employment of men who possess in some marked degree the characteristics and resourcefulness that make diplomats.

The result is that the railroad business now offers the aspiring youngster a few more chances than it used to, and in Chicago, the railroad center of the United States, those chances are more numerous than they are in any other city in the country.

COG RAILROAD UP HIGH MOUNTAIN

Line from the Base to the Summit of Mount Washington Is Really a Fine Piece of Engineering—Superintendent Tells of the Work Done on One of the Regular Trips—Is Strikingly Original in Construction.

As there is scarcely a more interesting railway of equal size in the country than the three-mile cog road built from the base to the summit of Mt. Washington, one can readily believe that its officials, particularly its superintendent, must be interesting, too, says the Boston Globe.

When the cog road is not in operation, or when the roadbed is not receiving attention before the beginning and after the end of the season, the superintendent, John Horne, is busily engaged in the machine shops of the Boston & Maine at Lakeport. Mr. Horne is never too much occupied to discuss the Mt. Washington railway and he knows the subject thoroughly.

Mr. Horne has been connected with the Mt. Washington road for 32 years; the last 12 as superintendent. He is a native of Yorkshire, England, and is a man of remarkable mechanical ability, which he has found opportunity to demonstrate in many ways during his connection with this unique road.

As the oldest official of the road Mr. Horne's reminiscences are most entertaining and more particularly do they impress one when told by him in the course of conversation, for Mr. Horne is a most pleasing conversationalist.

"Our engines up there on the mountain," said Mr. Horne, "have a great deal of work to do, and they work hard; in fact, I have come to regard them all, I suppose, as a physician in regular practice regards his patients."

"They are so different from the ordinary machine that even the best and finest engineers—I mean those interested in mechanics—from all over the world, when they arrive at the base of Mt. Washington are attracted

WENT THROUGH THE BRIDGE.

When Timbers Gave Way Under Weight of Freight Train.

At a recent meeting of railroad men several stories of narrow escapes had been told, but the oldest man in the party had not yet been heard from. He was a grizzled veteran of 60 who had retired only recently.

"I am reminded of an incident in which my train crashed through a bridge—it was one in which our conductor, Thomas Croank, had a narrow escape from death," said the old engineer. "Indeed, while his injuries did not prove fatal, it was some time before he could go out on his run again."

"We were running at a slow rate of speed as the train pulled across Bennett's creek, four miles south of Rushville, Ind. The name of the railroad was the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad, commonly called the 'Big Four.' As our locomotive passed over the structure in question I could plainly see it give. I at once began increasing the speed of the train, hoping that I might be successful in pulling across before the trestle went down."

"However, the bridge continued to give, and with each revolution of the wheels of the train the timbers tottered more and more. It was a frightful moment for the fireman and myself, but we kept control of the engine and all of the cars but the caboose and a coal car were safely across. Then came a crash—a crash the like of which I hope I may never hear again."

"The timbers gave way, no longer able to support the heavy weight, and with them went down the two cars and the conductor and rear brakeman, R. G. Bruso, of Indianapolis. The coal car made its plunge first, and an instant later the caboose made its 13 foot descent, falling upon the wrecked gondola. The occupants of the car were hurled out, and the conductor was buried beneath the wreckage and almost submerged in water."

"We hurried back to the rescue of the men, and, despite our heroic efforts to remove the debris so as to effect their release, it was two hours before the conductor, bleeding from many wounds and benumbed from contact with the freezing water, was lifted upon a stretcher and brought to a place of safety, and it was many a day before he was able to return to his duties."

BLAINE AND THE BORE.

Statesman Had Method in Making Strict Appointment.

A notorious bore came to see James G. Blaine when he was secretary of state. Mr. Blaine was busy. Still, he was polite. He was extremely sorry his engagements made it impossible to talk to the visitor, but he would be glad to see him next day, says the Saturday Evening Post. "What time?" asked the bore. Mr. Blaine made an elaborate consultation of his engagement book. "Come at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning," he said. "I shall be glad to see you then. You understand the hour, do you not? Ten o'clock, precisely." "I shall be here," said the bore. "Mark you," cautioned Mr. Blaine, "when I say 10 o'clock I mean 10 o'clock. You must be here on the exact minute. Promptly at 10, then." "All right," replied the bore, and went away jubilant. "Blaine," asked William E. Chandler, who was present, "why did you make such a precise appointment with that man? You do not want to see him." "I know it," replied Blaine, "but I fixed the hour with exactness and impressed it on him so I shall know when to be out."

Hold Up the Scorchers.

"Yes," remarked Farmer Cornot, "my boy Josh gets a good deal of fun out of automobiling." "But he doesn't own a machine." "Of course not. He's one of the county constables."—Washington Star.

Sayings of Childhood.
"Dearest, why did you cut the poor angleworm in two with your spade?" said the shocked mother to her little girl. "Oh, mamma," replied the child, "he seemed so lonesome!"—Woman's Home Companion.
